Preacher Decries Supplanting Love of Children for Babies With Nature Fakes.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 8.—"Race selcide, the gravest danger which confronts this nation today, is being fortered and encouraged by the fat forsupplanting the good folls of our childhood with the horrible monstready known as the "Teddy bear," said the Rev. Father Michael G. Esper of S. Joseph's. Catholic church in her sermon yesterday.

"The very instincts of motherhood is a growing girl are blunted and often times destroyed if the child is allowed to lavish upon an unnatural toy or this character the loving car which is so beautiful when bestowed upon a doll representing a helpiess infant.

"No more disgusting sight has everome to my eyes than is presented by the spectacle of a little girl fondling caressing, and even kissing the spectacle of a little girl fondling caressing, and even kissing the pseudo animals. It is a shame upon the American people that it will suffer the development of the instinct of motherhood in its future wemen to be arrested for a fad for these bundles of horridness, the most harmful and repulsive nature fakes ever perpetrated. Father Esper's denunciation of the "Teddy bear" came in the course of an address from the pulpit asking the support of his parishioners to a doil social being planned by the women of the church to raise money for a new parochial school building. It was when the priest suggested that contributes of doils would be appreciated that inveighed in impassioned tones againg the near-bears which have recently become popular with all classes.

MACHINE LEARNING & CITIZEN SCIENCE & CONSERVATION RESEARCH

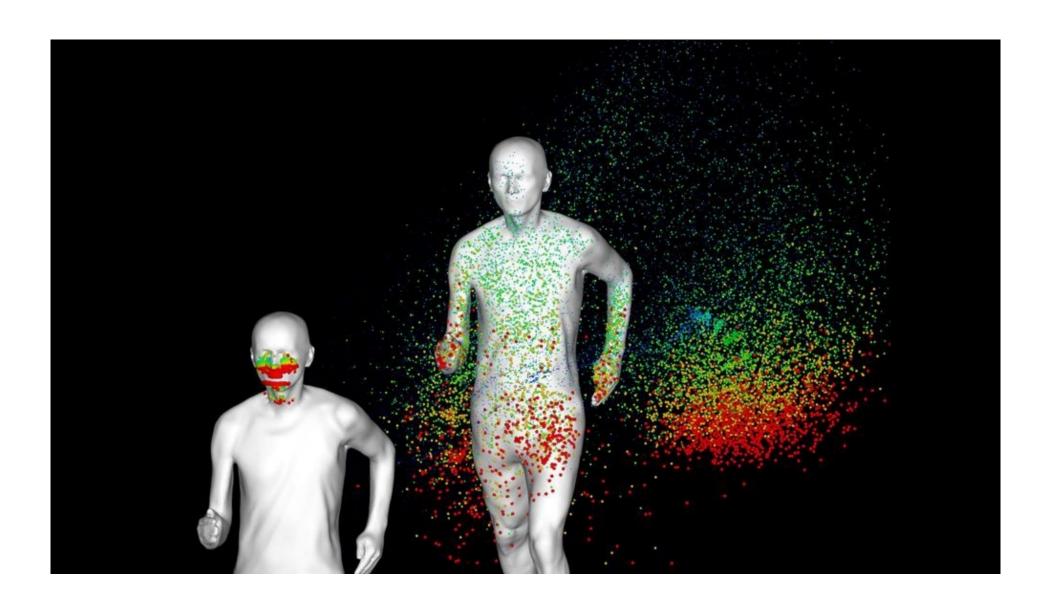

Wildbook for Zebras applies computer vision algorithms and deep learning to identify and track individual zebras across hundreds of thousands of photos. We help researchers collaborate with each other and citizen scientists contribute to the effort. A.I. scales and speeds research and conservation.

STEP 1. DEEP LEARNING FINDS ANIMALS

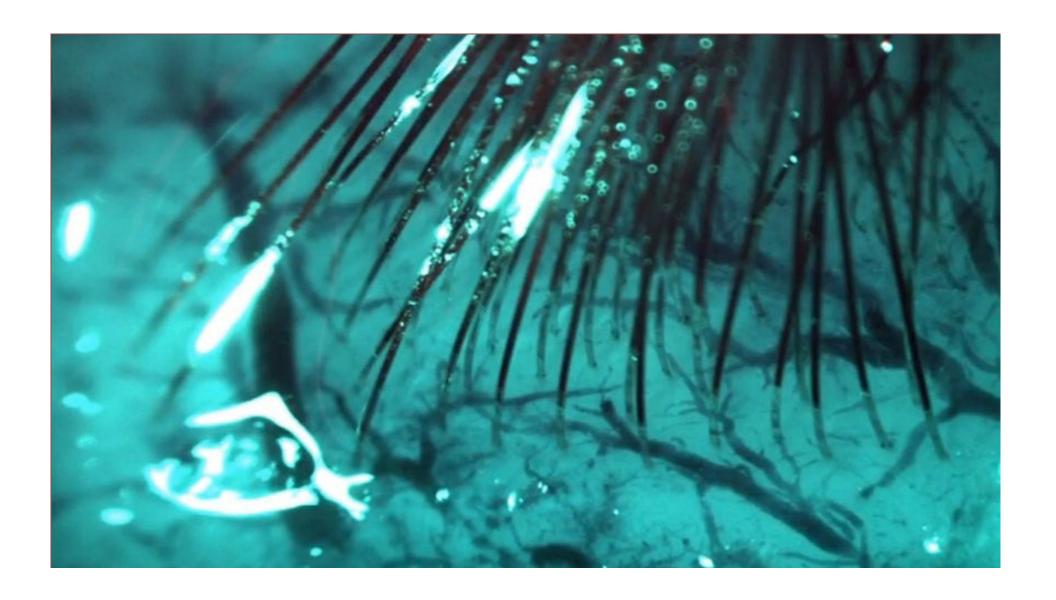

We train computer vision to find individual zebras in photos and identify the species.
